Director's Notes

"If there is no struggle there is no progress. Those who profess to favor freedom and yet deprecate agitation, are men who want crops without plowing up the ground, they want rain without thunder and lightning. They want the ocean without the awful roar of its many waters.

"This struggle may be a moral one, or it may be a physical one, and it may be both moral and physical, but it must be a struggle. Power concedes nothing without a demand. It never did and it never will. Men may not get all they pay for in this world, but they must certainly pay for all they get. If we ever get free from the oppressions and wrongs heaped upon us, we must pay for their removal. We must do that by labor, by suffering, by sacrifice, and if needs be, by our lives and the lives of others."

— Frederick Douglass

On January 12, 1965, a little more than a month before the assassination of Malcolm X, Lorraine Hansberry died; she was thirty-four. From the blood of Malcolm a new people arose, as if it were Easter morning and the shedding of the blood itself had rolled away the stone from the tomb of the race. And, having risen, the people swept across the land, an avenging tornado of blackness. Today the storms have passed and, in the quietness, the voice and vision of Lorraine Hansberry needs to be heard. It was there all along, but we weren't ready to listen. Now perhaps we are.

This production is an Associate entry in the American College Theater Festival (ACTF). The aims of this national theater education program are to identify and promote quality in college-level theater production. To this end, each production entered is eligible for adjudication by a regional ACTF representative, and certain students are selected to participate in ACTF programs involving awards, scholarships, and special grants for actors, playwrights, designers, and critics at both the regional and national levels.

Last year, approximately 800 productions and 17,000 students participated in the American College Theater Festival nationwide. By entering this production, our department is sharing in the ACTF goals to help college theater grow and to focus attention on the exemplary work produced in college and university theaters across the nation.

About the Artists

Lorraine Hansberry (Playwright) One of America's pre-eminent playwrights, Lorraine Hansberry is best known for A Raisin in the Sun. With this play, she became the first black woman to have a play on Broadway, as well as the first black and youngest American to win the New York Drama Critics' Circle Award (1959). A Raisin in the Sun was produced and published in some thirty countries and her screen adaptation was given a Cannes Film Festival Award. Her other works include The Sign in Sidney Brustein's Window and To Be Young, Gifted, and Black. Ms. Hansberry died of cancer in 1965 at the age of 34. Both Les Blancs and To Be Young, Gifted, and Black were adapted by her former husband and literary executor Robert Nemiroff and produced posthumously.

Join the U Players on a riveting journey through the halls of a French madhouse

Marat/Sade

Murder and madness rule when Charlotte Corday's fateful meeting with French Revolutionary Jean-Paul Marat is re-enacted in a French insane asylum. Peter Weiss' powerful work of theatre explodes with passion and with poetry in a production that ranges from the wildly comic to the deeply disturbing. The play is set in 1808, when France is under the firm rule of Napoleon, and the libertine Marquis de Sade stages a bold and unnerving dramatization of the murder of Jean-Paul Marat, using his unpredictable and often uncontrollable fellow inmates as the actors. Don't miss The Persecution and Assassination of Jean-Paul Marat as Performed by the Inmates of the Asylum of Charenton under the Direction of the Marquis de Sade.

We are proud to be celebrating our fifteenth year in Ann Arbor. SchoolKids' has been rated as one of the top twenty music stores in the country. Here's what folks are saying about us:

"SchoolKids' is a genuine 'record store' in the classic sense; its atmosphere and its regard for the music it sells is clearly unique in the business. It does not underestimate the taste or intelligence of its customers. It carries the widest spectrum of music—all sorts of music—that I've ever seen anywhere. Its employees are helpful, knowledgeable fans of music rather than mere button pushers. Aside from the obvious hits, the store goes out of its way to carry titles that, however obscure, are genuinely GOOD—a trait which fellow customers respect and appreciate. It also has the best selection of deleted records and CDs I've ever seen."
